

IACLE China launches lectures using WeChat App

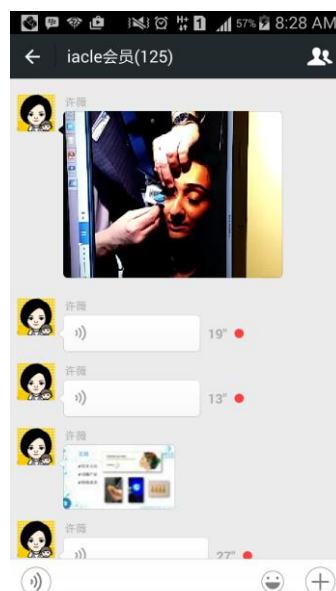

This month marked another first for IACLE as members in China took part in lectures on the WeChat platform. China National Coordinator Wang HaiYing explains

WeChat is one of the most popular messaging apps in China. The platform was set up to facilitate communication among IACLE members. On this platform, which is real time, members and industry share their teaching experiences and teaching materials. Currently we have 125 members in this WeChat group.

IACLE China conducted two lectures using this platform in April 2016:

- Case reports – Contact lens complications, 9 April, 8:00pm-9:00:pm (Beijing time).
Lecturer: Wang HaiYing
  - Prior to this case report lecture, Wang HaiYing introduced IACLE as an organization and also familiarized members with how to teach using the IACLE Case Reports.
- Contact lens education in the United States, 23 April, 8:30pm-9:30pm (Beijing time).
Lecturer: Xu Wei
  - Xu Wei shared her experiences of the contact lens education system and teaching methods used by lecturers in the United States.

Feedback was positive. The following is a comment from one of the members:

‘The lectures and speakers are great, together with the content. It’s a good learning and sharing experience. WeChat lectures also allow us the flexibility to choose the time we listen to the lectures.’
